Reuse Network

Working with our network of members, we are reducing poverty, tackling waste and offering a brighter and better future for the most isolated individuals in our society.

Reuse Network is the UK's only membership body dedicated to charitable and voluntary reuse organisations. We work with our members to reduce poverty, tackle waste issues and offer a brighter and better future for those marginalised in our society.

We can help you to:

Reduce risks within your organisation

Continue professional development through training and events

Network with like-minded individuals and organisations

Build your knowledge of the reuse sector

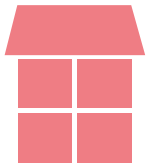

Become more effective and efficient at what you do

Feel connected and listened to within the sector

Our mission: Reuse Network support the reuse of products by UK charities and social enterprises who are established to alleviate social exclusion, and address climate change. We are driving the message of reuse across the UK, creating a sustainable, supportive network that strives to help the poorest in our society build a brighter and better future for themselves.

Communities

We believe in a society where everyone can create a sustainable home. We are working across sectors to make this vision a reality, giving our member charities the support, information, connections and goods they need to reach vulnerable people in need in their local communities.

Network

Reuse matters. The message of reuse for social and environmental benefit is being heard. We speak loudly and clearly on behalf of our members so that we can be a driving force in our sector, influencing policy-makers, ensuring the growth of the social economy reuse sector and offering a better way of life for households in need.

Environment

We are building meaningful connections between our commercial partners, member organisations and members of the public to divert millions of usable household items from landfill and into low-income households, tackling poverty, saving hundreds of thousands of tonnes of CO2, and supporting a vast, growing network of people through volunteering, employment and training opportunities.

Approved Reuse Centres

Approved Reuse Centres display an advanced level of proficiency and excellence, achieved through professional audits and assessments.

The Reuse Network has been offering this service to its members in the UK since 2005 and currently has around 50 ARCs registered across the UK.

The main benefits of ARC membership are the recognition of this certification by external parties, the thorough audit process and the commercial opportunities available with Reuse Network's partners. Akin to the International Standards Organisation (ISO), the Reuse Network has its own quality standard. ARC membership requires your organisation to comply with our specification. Part of the Reuse Network's operation is to help local reuse organisations have the profile and means to take on national contracts.

We do this by:

- Undertaking quality audits to deliver these contracts;
- Establishing a national reuse and clearance service to the commercial and hospitality sectors, to collect reusable furniture and electrical appliances;
- Implementing new marketing and commercial strategies to generate new business;
- Encouraging more members to be Approved Reuse Centres.

Whether you are just starting out your membership or you are a long-standing member of the Reuse Network this document will help you identify if ARC membership is appropriate for your organisation.

Benefits to your charity

Membership at ARC level demonstrates a high level of competence and proficiency and represents your organisation's ongoing dedication to professionalism.

ARC membership provides a thorough audit and assessment of quality management policies and procedures on your site on an annual basis.

John Keegan
Operations and Systems Assessor

When you join the Reuse Network as an Approved Reuse Centre, you will see your organisation run more efficiently and effectively through staff training and a better understanding of processes, procedures, and responsibilities. In addition, you will also receive regular updates from the Reuse Network with essential advice and information on changes in legislation and regulation.

By taking part in a Reuse Network annual audit you will ensure your organisation is compliant with health and safety, waste, fleet, and other regulations, subsequently reducing or eradicating the risk of potential fines or compensation claims.

Additionally, this certification provides confidence to our major commercial, retail and manufacturing partners, creating the assurance that you are operating legally and compliantly. Similarly, it has been identified that public sector commissioners also recognise this certification as many Reuse Network members have secured bulky waste contracts as a direct result of becoming an ARC. Not to mention that this level of membership ensures your organisation is eligible to take part in our commercial partnerships.

Key Benefits of ARC Membership

Raises management capability and professionalism of your organisation

Improves management policies and operational processes

Regular updates on changes in legislation and regulation

Profile boost and provides the means to take on national contracts

Legitimate assurances to local authorities, commercial partners and certification bodies

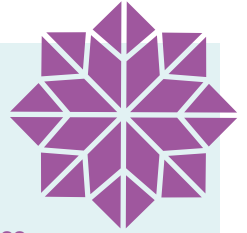

Access to Reuse Network brokered commercial contracts.

Voting rights at the AGM and stand for election as a director

Opportunities for your Charity

The increased amount of business opportunities offered at this level can help you to support more vulnerable people, increase your sales and improve the longer-term sustainability of your operations.

While operating at ARC level your organisation will be able to access new, end-of-line and returned furniture and appliances from many of the UK's leading retailers, manufacturers, hotels, universities, and transport operators. Additionally, you will also be eligible to apply to our national take-back schemes with the likes of John Lewis & Partners, MEARS, and Currys.

Your organisation will not only benefit from gaining access to high-quality furniture and appliances offered within these partnerships, but you will also become an integral part of the development of regional and central reuse hubs within the UK. In doing so you will be sharing best practices with some of the most enterprising reuse organisations in the country and developing new activities based on future market trends and legislation.

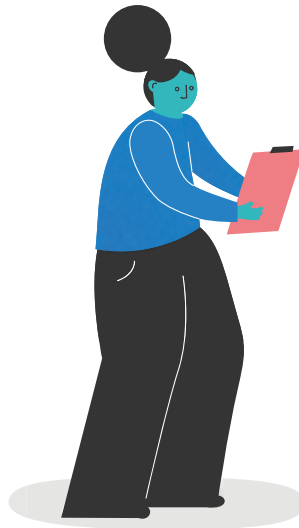

The audit process

ARC membership is a nationally recognised mark of professionalism and excellence.

ARC certification is the only system within the UK designed specifically for the quality assurance of reuse operators.

Within the auditing process, the auditor provides knowledge, guidance, information, and practical skills to continually improve your organisations capabilities and performance so that you are better placed to face challenges now and in the future. Preparation for the audit may initially require some work, however, you can rest assured that the benefits of this audit far outweigh the additional effort required. The Reuse Network's auditing process is not something that you should be afraid of given that it is a second party audit, your auditor will actively assist you.

ISO Certification Standards

In addition, we offer a programme for documenting and installing a formal system and preparing subscribers for external certification to meet the following ISO certification standards - ISO 9001:2015, ISO 14001:2015 and ISO 45001:2007 and other standards. This quality auditing service helps reuse organisations achieve all of the above certifications in one go. Taking this opportunity will give each subscriber the highest possible profile and without doubt, satisfy any potential customers, partners or public service expectations.

Quality Assurance

Our reuse certification system is the only one in the UK designed specifically for the quality assurance of reuse operators as it is based on ISO principles and operational standards and compliance requirements specific to the reuse sector. Additionally, the audit covers all of the Environment Agency requirements of an (AATF) Approved Authorised Treatment Facility (externally verified).

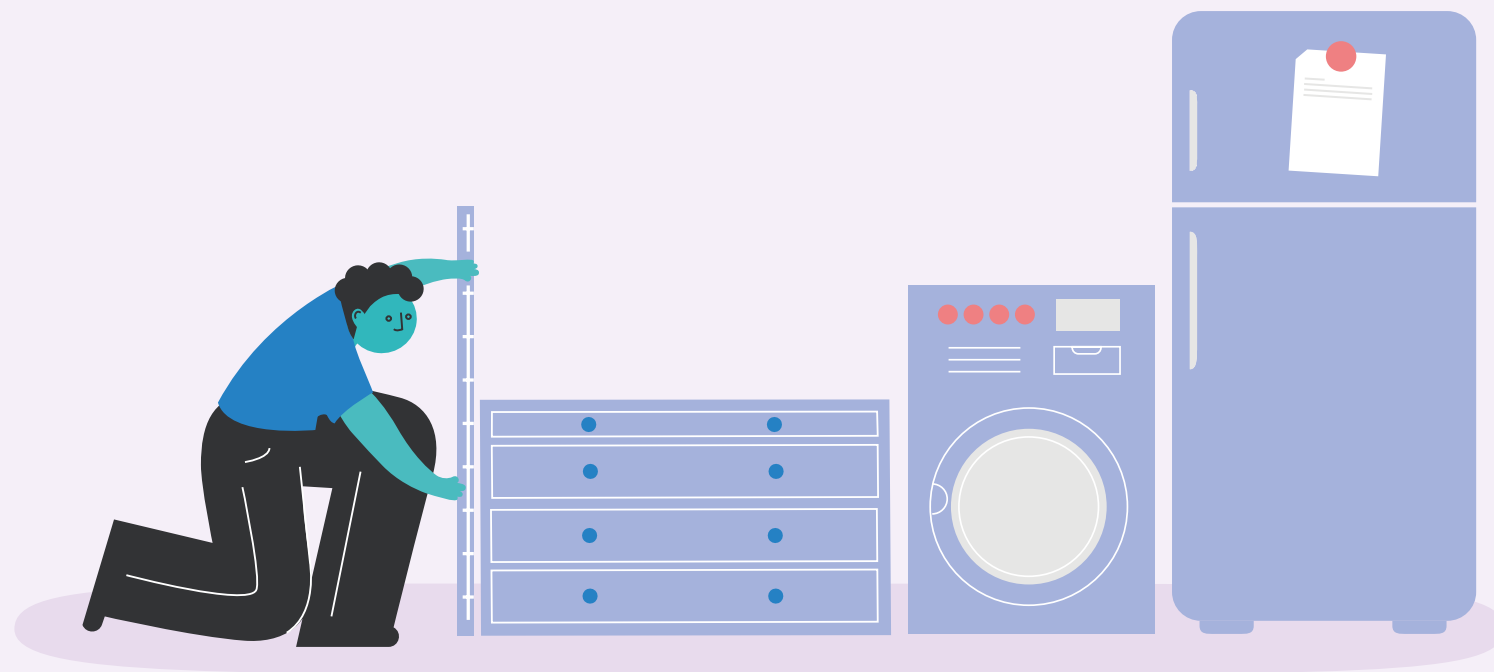

Specification compliance is assessed via an annual one or two-day audit (costs of which are included within your membership fee), the audit specifically looks at:

-  Documentation and Records
-  Management and Resources
-  Performance of work and provision of a collection, reuse and repair service
-  Management Verification and Action

Case study #1

Groundwork RE:WORK

“Having a detailed in-depth audit by the Reuse Network gives Rework’s staff confidence in processing refurbished items knowing they are being checked with confirmation that all items leaving Rework’s workshop are to the highest standards. This also gives our customers the assurances they need when purchasing Rework’s products.”

Keith Perdicou Reuse Operations Manager, Rework

REWORK is Groundwork’s London refurbish and reuse project in Wandsworth, where repairable white-goods are fixed up by trainees who are getting back into the workplace. It’s one of the busiest and best equipped domestic appliance repair workshops in the country.

toogoodtowaste

“One of the overarching and important parts to the membership is the excellent audit process which gives a professional edge to the work that we do to know that we are fully compliant and following best practice.”

Shaun England CEO, toogoodtowaste

toogoodtowaste are one of the leading re-use charities in South Wales; they collect household items such as furniture and electrical appliances that are ‘toogoodtowaste’ from local residents for free. As well as this, they also collect surplus stock from high street retailers.

All items are sold at affordable prices in their showrooms, helped by its team of committed volunteers, who play a key part in this whilst gaining valuable work experience. Their partnerships working with other organisations mean they are also able to give items away for free to people most in need in their local community.

toogoodtowaste have been an ARC member for many years and have benefitted from our commercial partnerships with John Lewis & Partners, Currys, IKEA, MEARS and more.
